Pangburn Post Elects Officers

The Pangburn Post, in special session at the American Legion club rooms Sunday afternoon elected the following officers to assume their duties January 1st and serve during the year 1921:

M. Stanley Brown, commander; Clarence L. William, vice commander; Donald B. Quisenberry, adjutant; Ratliff H. Lane, finance officer; Ratliff P. Baird, chaplain; Robert M. Trimble, historian; Dr. David H. Bush, service officer; Carroll C. Chenault, Jr., athletic officer; Sidney J. Calk, sergeant-at-arms.

Those elected to the executive committee are M. Stanley Brown, chairman; Dr. David H. Bush, Dr. Oliver P. Henry, Joseph H. Keller and Harry W. Lockridge.

Much regular business was transacted at the meeting Sunday, including the collection of membership renewals and club room dues for 1921. A motion was made and carried instructing the finance officer to purchase a Christmas holly wreath and place it on the soldiers' monument, on the courthouse square as a token of respect from the Pangburn Post to their comrades who died in service.

Beginning January 1st, 1921, the local Post of the American Legion will be known as the Montgomery Post. This change was made at the request of State Headquarters, and a permanent charter will soon be issued the organization under that name.

Mt. Sterling Team Scores Another Victory

The High School boys and girls won their usual weekly victory Friday night. The battles this time were fought with the fast team from Stanton. The first game, which the girls played, was quite interesting, as the teams were pretty evenly matched. The Stanton girls had a splendid team and it took quite a bit of hard playing on the part of the local girls to hold them down. The visiting girls made the first point, but this seemed to make our girls only fight harder and at the end of the first half the score was a tie, 4 to 4. The last half the Mt. Sterling girls completely outplayed those from Stanton. They allowed the visitors to do absolutely nothing, stopping their plays and at the end beat them 9 to 4.

The boys' game was equally as exciting. Brilliant playing was done by both teams. The lineup for this game was Stamper and Benton, f.; Coons, c.; Davis and Jones, g.; Back played part of the game.

This is the second time the boys have beaten Stanton this season, but the last defeat was even greater than the first, which showed how the boys have improved. The final score was 23 to 4.

As the boys and girls have beaten every game they have played this season they have great prospects for the future. A game has been scheduled for Clark county high for Wednesday night. This will be one of the fastest games played on the local court this season, as the tossers from Clark county are said to be the best in the state.

Untimely Demise of Hannah W. Mallory

Mrs. Hannah W. Mallory fell asleep at the home of her son, Lawrence W. Mallory at Howard's Mill Wednesday night, December 15. Mrs. Mallory was taken ill during the day Wednesday and all that medical aid and loving hands could do was of no avail and her weary soul begun its journey to the Master's Kingdom, there to mingle with the spirits of many loved ones who have long been waiting for her. Hannah Williams, daughter of Samuel Williams, and wife, was born in Mason county, Kentucky, April 13th, 1828, therefore was 92 years of age. In early womanhood she was married to Stewart Mallory, of Fleming county. Mr. Mallory passed from the scene of life's activities about 10 years ago. Many years ago Mrs. Mallory became a member of the Christian church, but in later years she had transferred her membership to the Howard's Mill Baptist church. It had been the writer's good fortune to know this saintly woman for many years and truly we can say she was created in the Master's likeness. Possessed of a quiet unassuming nature, she was a great lover of home and was a friend to all mankind. The people in the little village of Howard's Mill will sadly miss "Aunt Hannah," as we look back to by-gone years and see visions of things that used to be, we do not wonder that the Heavenly Father spared her so many years on earth.

Mrs. Mallory leaves to mourn for her three sons, William, of Illinois; James M., of Ewington, and Lawrence W., of Howard's Mill, two sons, Irving and Richard and a daughter died several years ago. Funeral services were held in the Howard's Mill Baptist church Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. C. Goldsmith and the remains were laid to rest in Macphelah cemetery. To the children, grandchildren and many friends we tender our deepest sympathy.

Court of Appeals Ends Session for This Year

The Court of Appeals adjourned Friday until the first Monday in January. Judge John J. Carroll was on the bench for the last time unless there is a special session as he will be succeeded by Judge W. Rogers Clay, Lexington, in January. Judge Rollin Hurt will become chief justice.

A motion to grant an injunction in the case of the Imperial Elkhorn Coal Company against W. B. Webb from the Letcher Circuit Court was overruled by the Court at its final session. Webb leased the mineral rights of the land to the company and later sold a small tract of it to Doc Franklin, who undertook to erect a store on it. The company objected to the erection of the store, but the court held that inasmuch as Webb had retained the surface of the land for use the company could not restrain the erection of the store.

The ten years' sentence in the penitentiary, given Peter Lewis, of Whitley county, a grandfather, for improper relations with a girl under sixteen years of age was affirmed.

Green Garrett Honored

H. Green Garrett, Winchester, delegate to the convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials, has been selected as one of the five members of a legislative committee to recommend and urge the continuance of Federal aid when the present funds are exhausted.

Mr. Garrett said the committee would probably ask for an appropriation of $100,000,000, to be available for use during and after the fiscal year 1922. Kentucky's quota would be about $6,000,000, according to Mr. Garrett's statement.

Haden Wyatt Dead

Friends here have received notice of the death of J. Haden Wyatt, which occurred several weeks ago at Battle Mountains Sanitarium, in Missouri. Mr. Wyatt was about 60 years old and was born and reared here, and is well remembered by his many friends. He was a veteran of the Spanish War, suffering disease in that conflict which made him an invalid the rest of his life. The body was laid to rest in the National Military cemetery at Leavenworth, Kas., with military honors.

He was the son of the late Henry L. Jones and Mrs. Mary D. Jones and was born and reared in this city, making his home here until a few years ago. Surviving him are his wife and a ten-months-old son, his mother, Mrs. Mary Dee Jones, of Richmond; one sister, Mrs. Margaret Arnold, of Richmond, and one brother, John Jones, of Huntington, W. Va. Funeral services were held in Louisville and the remains taken to Richmond for burial yesterday.

Gov. Aid Available To Frenchburg

County Commissioner R. G. Kern is in receipt of information from Hon. Green Garrett, member of the State Highway Commission, who has just returned from Washington, that the federal aid road from Mt. Sterling to Frenchburg and West Liberty, and which finally connects with the Mayo Trail at Paintsville, is an assured fact.

Mr. Garrett says it is now up to the people of Montgomery county to get busy if they want to take advantage of the federal aid money. Arrangements with this end in view are awaiting the decision of the Court of Appeals in the Hopkins county case, which decision it is hoped, the court will hand down in a very short time.

Under this plan Montgomery county would loan 25 per cent of the cost of this project to the Menefee county line to the state, and same would be reimbursed when the entire project is completed. This would open up a valuable trading territory for Mt. Sterling, and in the opinion of The Advocate, Montgomery county could well afford to give this money to the state in the event it is finally decided it is unlawful for a county to loan money to the state for road building purposes. This is the same proposition that was made this county several months ago by the State Highway Department relative to the road to the Clark county line—but one that would be worth much more to this city and county.

This is a splendid opportunity for us to secure two splendid thoroughfares at comparatively small costs—so, let's keep awake, and see to it that we have as good roads as any county in the state.

L. T. Chiles Makes Splendid Address

Below we reproduce a most excellent address delivered by our fellowtownsman, L. T. Chiles, at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon on last Thursday, Subject, "Co-operation."

"Webster gives the economic meaning of co-operation as 'the association of a number of persons for their common benefit, especially collective action in business or industrial processes, not only applying to producers, but to consumers as well.'"

"The great advocates of co-operation Owen, Fourier and others of their day, sought as some one has said, to transform as by an enchanted wand the whole life of man, freeing him from care and anxiety, and ushering in a period of universal prosperity. A time when man should no longer be the slave of capital, but capital become as it should, the servant of man. Seeking to establish the rule of fraternity in lieu of the savage competition that had always prevailed, recognizing that he owes most to his kind who has received the largest measure of strength or intelligence. Genies would then assert its empire, not by the importance of the tribute levied on society, but by the importance of the service rendered."

"A wise and philosophic Frenchman has said, the inequalities of capacities should have as its true object, not the inequality of rights, but the inequality of duties. Not to what extent can I exploit my fellowmen, but rather what can I do to make existence more tolerable for them, should he the ambition of men of intelligence and enterprise."

"It is astounding that in our day and generation we find men of intellect, professed Christian men, ready at all times to profit at the expense of the needy and to take unfair advantage of the weakness and the ignorance of their fellowmen, forgetting the memorable words of Christ, 'Inasmuch as you failed in your duty to your fellowmen, you failed also in your duty to me,' and then pronounced the scathing denunciation, 'Depart from me ye cursed.' The turmoil prevailing in the world today has been occasioned by the failure of the individual to recognize his just obligation to society and the reluctance of the great mass of the strong and masterful, to unite in any effort that would benefit the less fortunate, their prayer still seems to be, 'O Lord, bless me and my wife, my son John and his wife, us four and no more.' If there was ever a time in the history of our country when selfishness should be relegated to the background it is the present time. Labor should take a less arrogant stand, the tradesman and the producer should at once make the sacrifices that they will be compelled to make later, and the consumer should cease to quarrel with conditions, for it will take the prompt and systematic co-operation of the entire people to save our nation from collapse. The business world is unquestionably shifting its gears. It has a hill to make. It has been traveling on high and must now shift to low. The president of the Wholesale Grocers' Association under date of December 1st wrote: 'If there was ever a time in our business life when mutuality of interests should be recognized by merchants that time is today. Before placing an order out of town every wholesale grocer should use his phone with a view of discovering the condition of his local jobbers concerning the article needed. Through the exercise of this spirit of co-operation on the part of grocers everywhere our stocks would soon become more liquid and an improvement in general conditions promptly follow."

"Fortunately none of us in Mt. Sterling are badly handicapped by large stocks of high priced slow-moving goods, but wherever there is an excess of any sort of merchandise the owner should not hesitate to inform his neighbors at the same time asking them to relieve him as far as possible, at existing market values. It is undoubtedly best for all that such a spirit of co-operation should be fostered and it goes without saying that what is best for all is always best for the individual in the long run. We want to be practical in this matter and not merely idealistic—like Owen and Fourier, for as Herbert Hoover recently said, speaking of our politicians, 'words without action are the assassins of idealism.' We all want results, and they can be secured through this organization if each member would carry his part of the load. A few years ago I attended the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church. A commissioner from Texas spoke of the needs of the Rev. Charles Little of his Presbytery, who with a family of ten was trying to live on $1,250 a year, and he urged an increase to $1,500. One old chap expressed surprise that he could be able to exist on $1,500, but the Wit of the assembly arose and gravely said, 'Brethren, this is evidently a case where every Little

"This same willing spirit in our club would tend to disarm envy and suspicion, the ever vigilant enemies of the general welfare. Let's give the latent good will of this community an opportunity to find expression! Let's awaken that spirit into action and no local enterprise will be allowed to languish for want of our co-operation and appreciation. The Community is but the nation on a small scale, and the test of our loyalty to the nation is to be found in our loyalty to the community. The glory and the curse of Kentucky has ever been its ultra individualism. In spite of our brave motto we have not stood together and have ever lacked that spirit of hearty co-operation that has made other states, with nothing like our natural resources, wealthy and famous. We are undoubtedly entering upon a new era, when there shall be a more equitable distribution of the rewards of labor, when it shall no longer be said that the rich are growing richer and the poor are growing poorer. A day when business will be conducted under new conditions and with higher and purer and better motives and purposes than ever before in our experience, for we are beginning to realize that in assisting others to succeed we thereby assist ourselves."

Mr. Chiles, in his inimitable manner, captured his audience with his first few remarks before beginning his address.

Forbes Analyzes Business Outlook

By B. C. Forbes in Forbes Magazine
Many unpleasant things are happening. Lots of business men are becoming a trifle panicky; they can see only one upshot to the numerous demoralizing developments, namely: serious disaster. The pessimistic view, it is true, can be supported by no end of unfavorable facts.

Yet a thorough analysis of the whole situation, supplemented by interviews with responsible leaders in finance and in many industrial lines, justifies this emphatic conclusion:

The situation contains more favorable than unfavorable features, and indications point, not to disaster, but to early betterment and to the setting in of genuine prosperity early in the new year.

Before quoting the views of leaders, and before presenting an unbiased summary of the many recent happenings, let us examine, first, a few of the most encouraging factors:

1. The government reports that harvesting weather has been ideal, and our 1920 crops are on the whole the most bountiful ever garnered, thus insuring ample supplies of foodstuffs for both man and beast.

2. Our banking system is a bulwark against financial panic, and although interest rates, very properly, have been kept high to discourage inflation and overspeculation, tion, bankers confidently predict easier monetary conditions within the next six months.

3. Weeding out of unsatisfactory workers, rendered possible through the diminution in demand for goods and also transportation, has acted as a tonic upon labor, with the result that production per man is increasing substantially, thus lowering labor costs. Moreover, immigration is approaching the 100,000 mark per month. Strikes are no longer a menace.

4. America's railroads are today functioning more efficiently than ever before in their history. Congestion is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. The ablest railroad presidents declare that industry and business can now count upon prompt and satisfactory service.

5. Readjustment in many industries has already been drastic, prices in not a few instances being back to pre-war levels. In other lines deflation is proceeding at such a pace that bottom ought to be reached within a month or two. In the view of most authorities the worst of the unsettlement incident to price-cutting has already been experienced, and they look for early symptoms of steadiness.

6. The deadlock in buying, which has been extremely acute, is expected to break in the very near future, as a vast number of concerns have been operating from hand-to-mouth, and the public, as a rule, have been rigidly using up their old supplies in the sure belief that they will be able to fill their needs at a much lower price. These lower prices are rapidly being made available.

7. The election results have been favorably interpreted by the financial and business world, thus installing an underlying feeling of confidence.

8. Faith in the outlook for 1921 is so strong in the highest financial and industrial circles that ambitious plans are being made for the launching of new enterprises and the expansion of existing ones. The wave of unbridled extravagance, which engulfed the country during the inflated boom has passed, and money is now being saved in sufficient amounts to justify enterprising leaders in counting upon being able to raise the capital necessary for their projects—a factor of great magnitude.

9. All fears of Bolshevism overrunning the world have disappeared and clamor in this country for such revolutionary nostrums as the "Plumb Plan" is drying out. Lloyd George's declaration that "things are getting better" in Europe is accepted as the literal truth.

10. The cost of living has gone down twenty or twenty-five per cent and will fall more, thus paving the way for peaceful readjustment of wages.

11. Our security markets have stood up extraordinarily well in face of the avalanche of unsettling incidents, and there has not been a single financial failure of importance.

12. Finally, the health of the American people is splendid; faith in the stability of the country is now strong; the spirit of enterprise in influential circles is undaunted. Our resources are illimitable and of more moment at this time, we are within sight of adequate capital to develop them, more efficient labor to handle them, better railroad facilities to transport them, more American ships to carry them overseas, and a steadily recuperating world to buy our surplus.

How do important industrial, financial and commercial men read the outlook?

Judge Gray, head of the largest industrial organization in the world, remarked to me the other day: "The amount of money in circulation is the largest we have ever experienced, nearing $60 per capita. The resources of the banks have reached a new maximum. Our agricultural, manufacturing and mineral products and the facilities for utilizing all of them to the best advantage are rapidly increasing and, on the average, have reached a new high point." In expressing great confidence in the general business outlook, Judge Gray added: "We have reason to believe that hereafter there will be close cooperation between business and the governmental authorities. Indeed, at no time in the history of this country has the outlook in this respect been better. It goes without saying that great progress and prosperity in this country will be of decided and continuing benefit to all other countries."

Read this pointed forecast prepared for "Forbes" by the well-known banking and brokerage firm, Hornblower & Weeks: "Indulging in the gratuitous folly of prophecy, we believe that the current industrial depression will end in February, and while we feel that no sustained upward movement in securities can come back before then, we believe the general level of security prices made this month will prove to be about the lowest."

"For twelve months the country has been organizing its industry, commerce and finance in order that it might withstand the effects of the world-wide dislocation and disorganization that took place from 1914 to 1919 inclusive."

"Banking conditions have been stabilized, as instanced by a Federal Reserve ratio of resources to net deposits for the combined Federal Reserve system, which has not this year been below 42 per cent, nor above 45 per cent. The volume of business measured by bank clearings declined from the spring to the early autumn 18 per cent, reflecting to some extent, of course, a decline in value of business measured by a decrease in commodity prices of 24 per cent.

"The total amount of working capital in the country in proportion to the volume of business to be handled has never been less, due primarily to the vast investment of liquid capital in fixed forms in the past five years and also to investment in inventories, which this year for the first time have been as immobile as fixed assets because of the overnight disappearance of a buying demand. Hence the inability to liquidate inventories rapidly and hence the continued new high record for rediscounts at all banking centers in spite of curtailment of credit to none but essential borrowers. The readjustment of industry being worked out without financial crisis is an event of importance, equalled only by the timely arrangement effected by leading bankers for bringing gold to this country with which to meet the Anglo-French loan maturities at the precise moment when gold was the one thing needed in our general banking system, because it was the precise moment when seasonal demands reached their peak."

"Delivered from financial crisis by this skillful handling of domestic and foreign money movements, the working out of industrial problems is simply a matter of time, and precedent suggests that while we will probably reach in February a condition of industrial depression even more intense than now exists, industrial inertia this winter will simply mean the completion of the reaction which started in the fall of 1919. Thereafter, we expect that seasonal crop preparations will stimulate a renewed business activity, aided by abundance of materials, sustained by relatively cheap money and fortified by reduced operating expenses made possible by an abundance of labor.

"Earnings and profits in general business will be thereby increased, the purchasing power of the average business man augmented and his outlook upon future business will become optimistic. Until business sentiment, which means speculative sentiment, is thereby improved, there can be no lasting public interest in security markets, and we are confident that such an era of increased earnings and advancing security prices will be upon us next spring and that professional stock market traders anticipating this will purchase industrial securities during the next ninety days in sufficient quantities to prevent a drastic decline."

"The railroad securities are already in a fundamental upward movement which gives no evidence of a change in trend."

EDUCATIONAL TOOTH TALK—25 Prevention

It is well to bear in mind constantly that no sick tooth ever "gets well by itself." You cannot "wear it out" as the saying goes. From the day your tooth starts to decay it is doomed unless it receives the right kind of treatment. The moment you discover the tiniest spot of decay on one of your teeth you should begin to think of the attention it needs. You should have it attended to that day if possible. That tiny spot can be filled at a trifling cost, but that same spot allowed to grow into a cavity will become a storehouse of trouble and expense.—Dr. H. M. Wright, Traders Bank Building.

THE TOBACCO SITUATION

The head of the Burley tobacco movement, Hon. J. W. Newman, is clear in his statements and arguments relative to the Burley situation. He recites the facts that tobacco buyers and manufacturers have during the past year purchased the weed at a price on a level with other farm products and recently from these purchases and other high costs have and are selling the manufactured tobaccos at prices that enabled these companies to declare from 75 per cent to 200 per cent stock dividends and Mr. Newman logically reasons that if these dividends can be realized from high prices paid for the crude stock and high wages that it follows, these same companies could pay former prices and realize the same dividends. We believe Mr. Newman is correct in his statements and if he is, then it follows that the farmer should realize former prices, not less than an average of 30 and 40 cents for their crops. The farmers are able to care for themselves and if they cannot get a just deal for their product then they should organize in order to manufacture and distribute, for if the companies manufacturing can pay big prices for cured material and then sell the manufactured article to the consumer, thereby realizing dividends from 75 to 200 per cent on their stock, there is no reason why the growers cannot do as well for organized companies of farmers.

WHAT ARE YOUR CHANCES OF SUCCESS?

Do You Step Out With Snap and Vigor? Are You Able to Get Things Done?

DON'T STAND IN YOUR OWN WAY

People With Thin, Weak Blood Have a Hard Time of It. They Should Take Pepto-Mangan.

Look at the facts of your health. So much depends on having red blood. If you stand up in front of your work with half-starved blood in your system you are standing in your own way. You are blocking your own progress.

Thin blood makes you dull. It makes you pale. You take no enjoyment out of your work. It is only half as good as it should be. You can remedy that condition so easily. Begin taking that fine tonic Pepto-Mangan today and keep it up for a while. Your blood will become nourished. Pepto-Mangan makes red blood corpuscles. You will get energy and strong power of resistance. Instead of standing in your own way you will push yourself ahead because of greater vitality.

But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. It is put up in both liquid and tablet form. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the name is on the package. The tablets or the liquid have the same medicinal value.

Literary Digest Retracts Error on Orange Crush

An editorial injustice to the well-known drink, Orange Crush, inadvertently made by the Literary Digest in its October 30 number, has been fully retracted by the publishers in an article appearing December 4th.

The error was made in a short editorial preface to the reprint of an article from the U. S. Public Health Reports on the subject of "Fake Orange Drinks." Although this article was not directed against orange crush, which derives all its flavor from the oil, juice and acid of actual oranges, yet the editorial preface mistakenly included the drink by name in the following language:

"Orangeade and orange crush, that never came nearer to an orange than the tanks of a synthetic chemical laboratory are no longer to be served under those names with Uncle Sam's permission."

This statement was fully corrected in the Literary Digest for December 4th in an editorial entitled "Fruit Juices in Fruit Drinks." The retraction appears on page 31 in the following language:

"A reference was made in our article of October 30 to orange crush, as made in a synthetic laboratory, and we further said that it was no longer to be served under this name with the government's permission. This statement we wish to correct. Ward's Orange Crush, which is the only orange drink marketed under the trade name 'crush,' is, as per their label, composed of orange oil, citric acid, orange juice, pure granulated cane sugar and water and colored with United States certified food color. As the government report was quoted in these columns, it is only right to give our readers this additional word of explanation and reassurance."

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a grateful user says:

John F. White, Olympia, Ky., says: "I caught a wretched cold that settled in my kidneys and I had sharp, knife-like pains in my back across my kidneys that I could hardly get up when I was down. Nights I couldn't rest well and my kidneys acted irregularly. I had dizzy spells and headaches, too. A druggist recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and I got a box. They relieved the dizzy spells, regulated my kidneys and strengthened my back. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. White had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Cool Pork Thoroughly Say Authorities

Success in the curing of pork, which has been butchering on the farm depends largely upon whether or not the meat has been thoroughly cooled out before the salt is applied. This suggestion together with several others is contained in hints which have just been issued by Prof. E. J. Wilford, of the Animal Husbandry Department, College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, for farmers who will do their own butchering during the coming winter months. According to Professor Wilford the old method of shooting or knocking the hog in the head has been found to be a poor one since it does not allow the animal to bleed out thoroughly and as a result the quality of meat is affected. If the animal is killed by inserting a knife about one inch in front of the "Adams Apple" and sticking toward the tail far enough to cut the two arteries that cross in the neck, much more satisfactory results can be obtained. In this way the heart will be allowed to pump the blood from the body. Many farmers have abandoned the old method of sticking the animal in the heart because by this method the blood cannot be pumped from the body. If the hog is hung up before the sticking the blood will drain out of the body much more satisfactorily.

Did in Her Life

"I have actually gained twenty-four pounds in weight in the last few weeks, and but for Tanlac I don't believe I would be alive today," said Mrs. Gertrude Garte, of 528 1-2 Broadway street, Toledo, O.

"For the last twelve years I have been in a terribly poor state of health and getting worse all of the time. My appetite was so poor I just had to force down everything I ate, and always after meals I had sharp pains in the pit of my stomach and a burning there that felt like a coal of fire, and I suffered agonies from the gas that was always forming.

"I was so nervous I shook like a leaf, I had almost forgotten how it felt to lie down and sleep quietly all through the night. There was a swelling in my feet and legs that bothered me a great deal, and I was so weak I would break down if I tried to get through my housework. I was just about half dead and had taken so much medicine that did me no good I had despaired of ever being well again.

"But to see me now, nobody would think I had been through all these sufferings. My appetite is splendid. I feel hungry all the time and never have to worry for fear of the miseries I used to suffer. For everything agrees with me now, and I have gained so in weight and in strength I feel as well as I ever did in my life.

Advertising Rates Must Stay Up!

By FRANK CARROLL

Advertising Manager, Indianapolis News

The advertising dollar of 1921 must do more, but it must not buy more in actual newspaper space than the advertising dollar of 1920.

The two factors entering most largely into the cost of a newspaper are print paper and labor. It is upon these that advertising costs are based.

The newspapers have every assurance that the cost of print paper will be higher in 1921 than it was in 1920. There is certainly no justification for a belief that the price of labor will be any lower in 1921, and if anything the average mechanical scale will be higher than during 1920, since practically all publishers are tied up on increased scales running well into next year.

It is a demonstrable fact that the average newspaper advertising rates prior to 1918 were far below the average cost per thousand of any other medium. Many publishers hesitated to advance rates to a point where a legitimate profit could be made without the strictest economy, and I think anyone conversant with the publishing business will realize that the newspaper publisher will be the first to revise rates downward as soon as conditions permit such revision.

During 1921, as never before during the past ten years, will business depend on the efficiency of the newspaper as a means of securing rapid turnover. Every effort should be made to keep the newspaper in at least as prosperous a condition as it has been during the past year, since it is axiomatic that only a prosperous newspaper can be successful advertising medium, capable of producing the maximum amount of returns for an advertiser.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that those who must rely on the co-operation of the newspaper to keep business on a steady level during 1921—and this includes every business interest depending on sales—will do their utmost to see that the newspaper publisher is assisted to build up a stronger organization through increased revenues.

To insist upon a reduction of advertising rates without a corresponding reduction in the cost of production, will mean less efficient newspapers. This can have no other tendency than to prolong a business depression, whereas the newspapers properly supported with real selling copy and on a rate basis fair to the publisher, will be a bulwark of new strength for the manufacturer, the wholesaler and retailer, and enable them quickly to readjust the condi-

Small Run of Cattle For December Court

The day was as lovely as a "perfect day" in June. The sunshine was brilliant and no wind to mar the pleasure of the man on business bent. Very small crowd in town and small run of cattle, the smallest of the entire season, about 700 head. Buyers were few and sellers were blue. Cattle sold $1.50 to $2.00 per hundred pounds lower than on the November court, but the owners took their medicine like men and sold. Best steers 7 cents, general run, 6 to 6 1/2. Nice fat heifers, 6 cents; fat cows, 5 to 6 cents; half fat cows, 4 1/2 to 5 cents; canners, 1 1/2 to 2 cents. There was a herd of very fine registered Hereford cows and bulls, heifers and calves of both sexes, but very few of any were sold, though, quality considered, they were priced reasonably enough. Had they been on sale 60 days earlier they could have been sold at good prices. I am looking for a more settled condition of financial affairs after New Years, and business will be better especially if tobacco can be sold at fair prices, which can be done if only the farmers will have sense enough to furnish the trade the kind they are willing to pay for and hold the mean stuff until it is wanted in the spring, when trade with Europe is resumed.

The tobacco crop will weigh one-third short in number of pounds, because of light weight, and if the landlords will buy all the tobacco that sells for a dollar a hundred and use it as fertilizer instead of paying $3 per hundred for commercial fertilizer they will help themselves and help the tobacco trade more than anything that can be done. The price of the present crop depends more on the seller than the buyer. If the seller holds off and refuses to take low prices he will get good ones.

Mules were very low on the market and very few to be had. Plug horses were plentiful and cheap. Good horses scarce and prices good. Trotters and pacers with speed are selling higher than any other kind of stock, caused by increased demand, and diminishing supply. A few prices caught at the scales:

Jo Hise sold 11 900-lb steers at 6 1/2 cents and also 8 good yearlings at 7 cents.

C. C. Douglas sold one fat heifer at 6c and seven nice 500-lb heifers at the same price.

Cas Goff bought 10 60-lb steers at 5 1/2 cents.

J. T. Murphy sold one 700-lb heifer at 7 cents.

Albert Turley 10 600-lb steers at 5 cents.

E. L. Pratt sold 12 600-lb steers at 6 1/2 cents.

Tom Douglas sold 6 750-lb steers at 6 cents and 4 extra good black steers at 7 cents.

John Craig bought 10 good heifers at about 7 1/2 cents.

Jim Dalzell bought 20 850-lb steers at 7 cents.

John Stofor sold 4 850-lb steers at 7 cents.

W. S. Whittaker sold 19 650-lb steers at 6 1/2 cents.

Market irregular, lower in afternoon than in the forenoon.
